The diagram shows a rectangular cover for a bid book. At the top center, the characters "入札書" (Bid Book) are printed. Below this, there are two horizontal rectangular boxes, each divided into a small square on the left and a larger rectangle on the right. Underneath these boxes are several rows of small circles representing a barcode or identification code. At the bottom right, there is a circular stamp area containing the character "印" (Seal). Two vertical lines on the left side indicate where to staple the book.
